

Investigate the behavior of solutions to $$x' = tx(x + 2)$$

without actually solving the equation. In particular, investigate monotony and convexity of solutions.

Do the solutions exhibit some symmetry?